NEW QUESTION: 1
Your network consists of one Active Directory domain that contains only domain controllers that run Windows Server 2003. Your company acquires another company.
You need to provide user accounts for the employees of the newly acquired company. The solution must support multiple account lockout policies.
What should you do?
A. Upgrade one domain controller to Windows Server 2008. Raise the functional level of the domain to Windows Server 2003.
B. Upgrade all domain controllers to Windows Server 2008. Raise the functional level of the domain to Windows Server 2008.
C. Implement Active Directory Federation Services (AD FS).
D. Implement Authorization Manager.
Answer: B
Explanation:
multiple account lockout policies = 2008 & 2008 R2
In Windows Server 2008, you can use fine-grained password policies to specify multiple password policies and apply different password restrictions and account lockout policies to different sets of users within a single domain. For example, to increase the security of privileged accounts, you can apply stricter settings to the privileged accounts and then apply less strict settings to the accounts of other users. Or in some cases, you may want to apply a special password policy for accounts whose passwords are synchronized with other data sources.
Domain functional level: The domain functional level must be set to Windows Server 2008 or higher.

NEW QUESTION: 4
See the Exhibit and examine the structure of the SALES, CUSTOMERS, PRODUCTS and ITEMS tables:

The PROD_ID column is the foreign key in the SALES table, which references the PRODUCTS table. Similarly, the CUST_ID and TIME_ID columns are also foreign keys in the SALES table referencing the CUSTOMERS and TIMES tables, respectively.
Evaluate the following the CREATE TABLE command: Exhibit:

Which statement is true regarding the above command?
A. The NEW_SALES table would not get created because the DEFAULT value cannot be specified in the column definition
B. The NEW_SALES table would not get created because the column names in the CREATE TABLE command and the SELECT clause do not match
C. The NEW_SALES table would get created and all the NOT NULL constraints defined on the specified columns would be passed to the new table
D. The NEW_SALES table would get created and all the FOREIGN KEY constraints defined on the specified columns would be passed to the new table
Answer: C
Explanation:
Creating a Table Using a Subquery
Create a table and insert rows by combining the CREATE
TABLE statement and the AS subquery option.
CREATE TABLE table
[(column, column...)]
AS subquery;
Match the number of specified columns to the number of subquery columns.
Define columns with column names and default values.
Guidelines
The table is created with the specified column names, and the rows retrieved by the SELECT statement are inserted into the table.
The column definition can contain only the column name and default value.
If column specifications are given, the number of columns must equal the number of columns in the subquery SELECT list.
If no column specifications are given, the column names of the table are the same as the column names in the subquery.
The column data type definitions and the NOT NULL constraint are passed to the new table. Note that only the explicit NOT NULL constraint will be inherited. The PRIMARY KEY column will not pass the NOT NULL feature to the new column. Any other constraint rules are not passed to the new table. However, you can add constraints in the column definition.
